Jot down examples of what life is like with electricity, then provide examples of what life is like without electricity. Look for examples that might fit both experiences.